Cyber-fraud integration delivers measurable fraud reduction

> As cyber-enabled fraud surges, banks must treat cyber fraud integration as a business priority, not just a technical fix.
>
> – Urooj Burney, SVP Cybersecurity Payments Ecosystem

70%
report improved threat intelligence after integration

Shared insights between cyber and fraud teams can create a more actionable view of threats, enabling proactive defense

Consumers benefit directly from stronger defenses, reinforcing trust and brand reputation

72%
say integration improves card security

68%
see measurable fraud loss reductions

Lower losses translate into significant cost savings and improved operational resilience

Integration isn't optional – it's a fast track to fraud defense

70%
improved incident containment speed
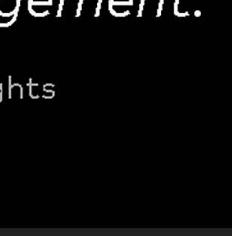

Integration can deliver tangible results in high-risk markets

Breaking down silos isn't just a trend, it's a proven accelerator for risk mitigation strategies

74%
detected account takeover attacks faster with integrated teams

81%
of financial institutions report faster risk improvements after integrating cyber and fraud teams > Cyber-fraud integration teams are achieving success in improving card security, enhancing cyber threat intelligence and enabling more effective incident management.
>
> – John Horn, Datos Insights

Get the full report to learn more about the role of cyber-fraud integration in the new era of risk

[Download]

Discover our solutions →